

ERG Merges with MIS Group

Merger yields expertise in the construction and real estate industries and comprehensive IT services from the partner you trust.

Thank you for trusting ERG and Burch Consultants as your resource for impartial advice on business management solutions for your distribution, manufacturing and professional service clients. You, our partner, play an important role in fulfilling our mission statement: To improve the success of our team, clients and partners through the provision of business and technology solutions.

It is our goal to provide you and your clients with the highest possible level of service, access to expert consultants and innovative technology solutions. To this end, we are pleased to announce that effective July 24, 2006 we are part of MIS Group. MIS Group, like ERG, is a leading Sage Software business partner that focuses primarily on the Sage Timberline Office solution for construction and real estate businesses and boasts an established IT consulting practice. Now the same expert advice you have been used to from ERG and Burch Consultants extends to these industries and your technology needs.

MIS Group has a strong regional presence that extends from Houston to Denver. Here are some of the new and enhanced, cost-effective services we will offer:

- IT and network infrastructure. In addition to the business management applications you and your clients use to run your businesses, we now will be able to provide you IT and network infrastructure services. MIS Group is one of the largest Dell VARs in the country.
- Expanded product offerings. The combined experience of both ERG and MIS Group makes us an industry leader in providing you revenue enhancing solutions. We are increasing our focus on the Sage CRM and Sage CRM SalesLogix Customer Relationship Management applications. Additionally, we are expanding our industry-specific solutions and document imaging capabilities to complement our current interactive strategic business planning tools and process documentation solutions.
- Customized solutions. Whether you need a simple utility or complex application, we can develop both traditional and Web-based programs that either stand alone or integrate with your current systems.
- New, innovative technologies. We are pleased to bring you the latest in innovative technologies including unified messaging and voice over IP telephone systems. These technologies, when integrated with your CRM and business management applications, will increase the day-to-day efficiencies of any business.

Over the next six months we will be rebranding our organization. Starting January 1, 2007 we will adopt the MIS Group name and MIS Group moniker: Creating Confidence in Technology. You can learn more about MIS Group by visiting www.misgroupusa.com.
